

Nominations for ABRI Executive Committee

Corporate Member	Nominee
Battery Pollution	Nicholas Assef Nicholas is the Founder &amp; Principal of LCC Asia Pacific a specialist corporate finance &amp; strategy consulting firm, which commenced in 2004. His investment banking practice focusses on the Engineering, Mining Services and associated Technical Services Sectors. Nicholas is the Founder of Halo Renewable Energy, a renewable energy player developing large scale solar farms in New South Wales and Battery Pollution a specialist recycling company focusing on the recycling of lithium battery waste materials. Nicholas was appointed to the ABRI Executive Committee in 2022 to fill a casual vacancy and the role of Vice President.
Canon Australia	Janet Leslie Canon was a founding member of ABRI and Janet joined the Executive Committee in 2008 when the Association was first incorporated. In her role as Sustainability Manager for Canon Oceania, Janet's strong advocacy for national product stewardship programs was recognised in 2021 when she was nominated Product Stewardship Champion of the year by the Product Stewardship Centre of Excellence. She brings to the executive the perspective of an OEM supplying business and consumer markets and operating across a number of different product stewardship schemes.
Envirostream	Andrew McKenzie Andrew is the Managing Director and founder of Envirostream Australia, Australia's specialist lithium battery processor and used battery sorter. He has over 22 years of industrial processing, recycling and manufacturing experience with a strong focus on building an Australian industry for a battery circular economy. Andrew spent over two years researching and prototyping the processing equipment before Envirostream began its operations in 2017 with the vision of increasing the low battery recycling rate in Australia through continuous, onshore innovation. Andrew joined the ABRI Executive Committee since 2017 in a range of roles. He is currently ABRI President.
Lex Enviro Services	Andy Jackson Andy is a Director and co-owner of Lex Enviro Services, a privately owned battery and metals recycling company, based in Western Sydney. With sixteen years in this role and managing numerous parts of the chain through transport, logistics, storage &amp; handling, as well as export and processing. Prior to this he spent twenty years in various Management and consultancy roles in the Automotive industry both here and in the UK. Andy brings to the Exec role an understanding of the broad range of issues that affect our industry. Andy joined the ABRI Executive Committee in 2017. Andy joined the ABRI Executive Committee in 2017.
Nyrstar Port Pirie	Amy Wright Amy is an engineering leader with a 10-year metallurgical-operational and now financial career working for Glencore Copper and Nyrstar, a recycler of

	alkaline batteries. She has progressed through metallurgical roles in copper and lead/zinc processing assets and is now a Business Analyst in the Nyrstar Finance team. She is responsible for delivering business circular economy outcomes quickly through co-ordination, collaboration and communication. She has a passion for seeing increased battery recycling and circular economy outcomes for Australia. Amy was appointed to the ABRI Executive Committee in 2022 to fill a casual vacancy.
ReSource	Troy Rowe Troy is the founder of ReSource, an alkaline and zinc carbon battery recycling company capable of producing a fertiliser-grade black mass output. He has an innate desire to look for new and innovative methods for recycling societies waste streams. He initially trained as an accountant and worked in commercial recycling roles before founding his own business. Troy joined the ABRI Executive Committee in 2020 and is currently ABRI's Treasurer.
Supercharge	Mario Alba Mario was Managing Director of Supercharge Batteries and currently handles strategic projects and resource optimization initiatives for Australia and Malaysia. Mario is rejoining the ABRI Executive Committee following a previous appointment in 2018.